

Lyric:Rumi /Helmi

I am not a follower nor beeing followed;
not a message nor a word;
not white neither a black;
not the way you say, not the way you want;
neither the way I was described and you heard;
I'm neither the sky nor the earth;
I'm not locked up by anyone, nor a captive of the religion.
I'm not a glass of wine for your loneliness, nor a slave, nor a prisoner.

I do not need a monastery or a mosque nor a pub;
I'm not a hell neither a paradise;
this is my nature;
these are not my words today, these are my eternal words.

when you reach this point, I implicitly tell you...
that you are the soul of the world.
you are the one who is screaming after yourself all your life.
you are the philosophy behind to all "whens and whys"
I swear to you, who heard this secret, who is not scared and who is awakened..
you are the greatest...
you are the "god", wake up...
do not sit in any deserted house,
you should not see other than your eternal light,
and unite with your "god"
you are the soul of this world.
