

Lyric:RUMI(Mowlana)

I returned

I returned like a new year, to crush the gate of the prison;

to break the teeth and claws of this maneating monster we call "life";

I am the falcon hunting down the birds of black omen;

I don't break but the unfair, or the cruel black hearted; but I respect the smallest goodness;

when I reach the justice, I transformed from being worthless to valuable.

if you measure me in the right way, you will see my correctness.

how do you dare to let someone like me intoxicated with love

enter your house

you must know better

if i enter i'll break all this and destroy all that if the sheriff arrives

i'll throw the wine in his face

if your gatekeeper pulls my hand i'll break his arm

if the heavens don't go round to my heart's desire i'll crush its wheels and pull out its roots;

If I receive wine from "Shams", I will get drunk, and will break the barrier of the world.

Melody:Anis Moin

Arrange:Yasar Erdogan